

HUGHES OUTLINES CAMPAIGN ISSUES

Declares for New Policy of Firmness and Consistency Toward Mexico

FOR ADEQUATE DEFENSE

G. O. P. Nominee for "Inflin-ching Maintenance of All American Rights on Land and Sea"

ASSAILS ADMINISTRATION

NEW YORK, July 31.—Charles E. Hughes tonight outlined in his speech of acceptance the issues upon which he will conduct his campaign for the presidency. Mr. Hughes declared for a new policy of "firmness and consistency" toward Mexico for "the unflinching maintenance of all American rights on land and sea," and for "adequate national defense, adequate protection on both our western and eastern coasts."

The nominee assailed the administration for its direction of diplomatic intercourse from the beginning, declaring that where there should have been conspicuous strength and expertness there had been weakness and ineptness. He called the failure to continue Ambassador Herrick at his post in Paris after the war had started, as "a lamentable sacrifice of international import."

Favors Vote for Women
"I endorse the declaration in the platform in favor of woman suffrage," Mr. Hughes declared. He added:

"... I favor the vote for women."

Step after step taken by the administration with reference to Mexico was assailed, from the days of Huerta to the note sent the de facto government by the state department June 20th, last. The seizure of Vera Cruz, the nominee said, "was war, of course."

Senator Harding, members of the notification committee, and fellow citizens:

"This occasion is more than a mere ceremony of notification. We are not here to indulge in formal expressions. We come to state in a plain and direct manner our faith, our purpose and our pledge. This representative gathering is happy augury. It means the strength of reunion. It means that the party of Lincoln is restored, alert, effective. It means the unity of a common perception of paramount national needs. It means that we are neither deceived nor benumbed by abnormal conditions. We know that we are in a critical period, perhaps more critical than any period since the Civil War. We need a dominant sense of national unity; the exercise of our best constructive powers; the vigor and resourcefulness of a quickened America. (We desire that the Republican party as a great liberal party shall be the agency of national achievement, the organ of the effective expression of dominant Americanism. What do I mean by that? I mean America conscious of power, awake to obligation, erect in self-respect, prepared for every emergency, devoted to the ideals of peace, instinct, with the spirit of human brotherhood, safeguarding both individual opportunity and the public interest, maintaining a well-ordered constitutional system adapted to local self-government without the sacrifice of essential national authority, appreciating the necessity of stability, expert knowledge and thorough organization as the indispensable conditions of security and progress; a country loved by its citizens with a patriotic fervor permitting no division in their allegiance and no rivals in their affection—I mean America first and America efficient. It is in this spirit that I respond to your summons."

Foreign Relations; Appointments
"Our foreign relations have assumed grave importance in the past three years. The conduct of diplomatic intercourse is in the keeping of the executive. It rests chiefly with him whether we shall show competence or incompetence; whether the national honor shall be maintained; whether our prestige and influence shall be lowered or advanced. What is the record of the administration? The first duty of the executive was to command the respect of the world by the personnel of our State Department and our representation abroad. No party exigency could excuse the non-performance of this obvious obligation. Still, after making every allowance for certain commendable appointments, it is apparent that this obligation was not performed. At the very beginning of the present administration, where in the direction of diplomatic intercourse there should have been conspicuous strength and expertness, we had weak-

FIRE BREAKS OUT AMONG ISLAND RUINS

SHELLS EXPLODE IN AN ALMOST CONTINUOUS CANNONADE

Preparations are Under Way for Joint Federal, State, County and Municipal Investigation to Fix the Cause for Disaster near Jersey City.

New York, July 31.—Fire broke out among the ruins on Black Tom Island tonight and the fire department of Jersey City, with fire boats from New York and New Jersey fought the flames which centered about a pier where large quantities of shrapnel and large calibre shells were stored. Shells exploded in an almost continuous cannonade.

With three officers of corporations doing business on Black Tom Island under arrest tonight and a warrant out for a fourth, preparations were underway at Jersey City for a joint federal, state, county and municipal investigation to fix the blame for Sunday morning's disaster.

The theory that the fire which caused the explosion started on a munitions barge at the island was combated by Robert S. Hudspeth, prosecutor of Hudson county and Theodore B. Johnson owner of the munitions barge. Both declared the fire originated in two Lehigh Valley railroad freight cars laden with explosives.

Johnson, who was arrested on a warrant charging manslaughter as were Albert M. Dickman, Black Tom agent of the Lehigh Valley and Alexander Davidson, superintendent of the National Storage company, denied all responsibility of the conflagration. He intimated the fire was of incendiary origin.

Prosecutor Hudspeth said he had obtained an affidavit from the commander of the tug "Geneva" according to which he said "the fire started two hours before the Johnson barge was destroyed. The fire spread from freight cars to warehouse and the barge."

Late in the day a warrant was issued for the arrest on a charge of manslaughter of Edmund L. Mackenzie of Plainfield, N. J., president of the National Storage company, whose plant on Black Tom was destroyed.

TORRID HEAT WAVE GIVES WAY TO REFRESHING BREEZES

Forecasters Promise at Least Three More Days of Pleasant Weather

Chicago, July 31.—The torrid heat that has enveloped the central west for the past few days gave way to refreshing breezes and the weather forecasters tonight promised at least three more days of pleasant weather. Showers in some portions of the Mississippi Valley broke a drought of several weeks duration.

A temperature of 70 degrees is forecast in Chicago for tomorrow morning.

Warmer weather in some sections is predicted by Wednesday.

Police and coroner's office tonight indicated 103 deaths in Chicago today, directly or indirectly attributed to the heat wave. All of these deaths were persons who were stricken Saturday and Sunday.

DEFER ACTION ON IMMIGRATION BILL UNTIL NEXT SESSION

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Democratic senators in caucus tonight voted to postpone action on the immigration bill until the next session of congress and adopted a resolution binding all Democratic senators to that decision. A resolution then was adopted pledging the majority to vote down any attempt to attach the immigration measure to the child labor bill as a rider.

The binding resolution, the first of that nature imposed by a Democratic caucus for several years was put by party leaders to whip into line Southern senators who had announced they would support an effort to saddle the child labor bill, which they oppose, with an immigration rider including the onerous literacy test section in the hope that President Wilson then would veto it.

CORONER JURY TO PROBE MINE EXPLOSION AT PANA

Four Miners are Killed and Two Injured in Blast—Expect Inquiry to Last Several Days.

Decatur, Ill., July 31.—Coroner S. J. Snyder of Christian county this afternoon empaneled a jury to conduct an investigation of the Springfield mine explosion near Pana which occurred Sunday evening and resulted in the death of four miners and the injury of two others. A start was made in taking evidence and the inquiry is expected to last several days.

There was no work at the mine Saturday as the fan was being repaired and the theory is that gas accumulated causing the explosion. Mine Manager William Barrowman gave positive instructions, according to a statement at the mine headquarters that no one should enter any part of the workings Sunday without a preliminary inspection.

Those killed were John Coleman, 33; John Zraskoski, 19; Marcel Cozart, 22 and Alexander Sandercock, 25.

Sandercock is the only married man and leaves a widow and baby. James Kelly and John Grogan were injured but will recover.

GERMANS ON DEFENSIVE ON NEARLY ALL FRONTS

TEUTONIC ALLIES ALSO YIELD INITIATIVE ALMOST EVERYWHERE

Reports indicate that Serbs, British and French are preparing to throw down the gage of battle to Bulgarians along the Greek border.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The eastern and southeastern counties of England had a visitation from German airships late last night, and at this hour the attack is still proceeding. An official communication just issued says:

"An attack by a number of hostile airships developed before midnight. The raiders are reported as having crossed the coast line along the eastern and southeastern counties. Bombs were dropped off the Thomas Estuary."

"The attack is proceeding."

Another official communication issued early this morning says:

"The raid appears to have been carried out by a considerable number of airships. The raiders seemed to have spent time cruising over the counties of Lincolnshire, Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Essex, Kent and Huntingdon."

"Our anti-aircraft guns came into action. It is believed with good effect. Full details of the raid are not yet at hand."

Germany enters upon the third year of the war with her forces in nearly all portions of the main theatres of operations on the defensive, and with her lines at numerous places in France and Russia back from where they stood a year ago. Her allies also have yielded the initiative almost everywhere—Austro-Hungarians in Volhynia and Galicia and in Italy respectively to the Russians and Italians and Turks in Asia Minor to the Russians. In addition, the Greek border unofficial reports indicate that Serbs, British and French are preparing to throw down the gage of battle to the Bulgarians and soldiers of the central powers.

The Russians according to the latest Petrograd communication are continuing their march against the Teutons in the Stokhod river region and have captured the entire 31st Honved regiment, together with its commander and his staff. Near Brodick, the Russians also are pressing Austro-Germans who are answering by bombarding Brodick and the crossings of the Boldurovka river, endeavoring to hold their lines of defense. Large reinforcements are being brought up to keep the Russians from further gains toward Lemberg.

While Petrograd says the Russians have crossed the Stokhod river by the Kovel-Sarny and Kovel-Rojitch railroad, Berlin says attacks by the Russians against General Von Linsenger troops were repulsed with heavy casualties to the attackers and that nearly 2,000 Russians were taken prisoners. In the sector of Buczacz, Galicia, Russian attacks also were repulsed, Berlin asserts.

In the Somme region both the British and French are engaged in consolidating positions won Sunday. The French were forced to sustain counter-attacks Monday in the Hem wood and at the Monacq farm, which Paris says were put down with serious losses to the Germans. There was no fighting on the British front during the day.

In the Astico Valley the Italians are keeping up their pressure against the Austrians on Monte Cimone and have put down Austrian attacks in the Adige valley and the Travnigolo Valley.

Petrograd reports a further advance for the Russians in the region of Ezeringen, Turkish Armenia and a repulse of the Turkish attack, while Constantinople says the Turks have driven the Russians from Revanduz and are pursuing them toward the border.

FOREST FIRES IN NORTHERN ONTARIO TAKE TOLL OF 184 LIVES

The British casualties in all the fires during July numbered 7,084 officers and 52,591 men.

One Town Completely Wiped Out, Another Almost in Ruins and a Score of Small Settlements Obli- terated.

Toronto, Ont., July 31.—With one town completely wiped out, another almost in ruins and a score of small settlements obliterated, Premier Hurst announced tonight that 184 persons lost their lives in the forest fires in northern Ontario. Heavy rainfall early today probably saved a great part of the province from destruction. Hundreds are homeless and the Dominion government has taken extraordinary measures to provide for the refugees.

Where the town of Mathieson once stood, tonight there are only smoldering ruins and ashes. Only a few structures in the village of Cochran remain standing. The greatest loss of life occurred at Nushka and 35 perished. In Quilts Falls was not entirely burned as reported last night. There was no serious damage at Engelhart. At Timmins, seventeen houses were burned down.

AMERICANS ENGAGE MEXICAN BANDITS

Small Detachment of Carrancistas Reinforce
U. S. Troops

TWO AMERICANS KILLED

Three Outlaws Are Killed—Two Escape Into Mexico With de facto Troops in Pursuit

PRIVATE REPORTS TO BELL

EL PASO, Texas, July 31.—American soldiers re-inforced by a small detachment of Carrancistas engaged Mexican bandits who had crossed the Rio Grande into the United States about five miles below Fort Hancock, Texas, early today. Two Americans were killed and one was wounded, while three outlaws were killed and two escaped into Mexico and are now being pursued by Mexican troops.

Upon receiving reports from Robert Dood, a United States customs inspector that the bandits had crossed the border, six men of Troop F, Eighth United States cavalry and a hospital corps orderly under Sergeant Lewis Thompson, with Wood and Customs Inspector Bean, rode to the abandoned adobe hut where the Mexicans were said to be in hiding. The bandits opened fire killing Wood. Private John Twomey and wounding Sergeant Lewis Thompson in the shoulder. Bean fearing that the Mexicans would escape called upon the Carranzista commander on the opposite side of the river. He responded with a score of soldiers crossing the river into the United States. The incident marked the first time Carranzista soldiers have co-operated with Americans on American soil.

After three of the five Mexicans had been killed the two remaining bandits eluded both detachments and escaped to the Mexican side followed by Mexican government soldiers.

Private Francis E. Shealin of Baltimore, Md., the hospital corps, who brought Sergeant Thompson to the Fort Bliss hospital, made a personal report to General Bell.

"We left Hancock at 4 o'clock this morning," said Shealin, "with a detachment of six cavalrymen besides myself, Sergeant Thompson, the two customs inspectors, Wood and Bean. "After riding southeast about five miles we approached a hut on a rough mesa covered with willow and mesquite. Here two cavalrymen dropped behind as horse holders and the rest of us went on foot. Inspector Wood, Sergeant Thompson and Private Twomey went to the right, and Inspector Bean, Privates Starko, Kaufman and myself went to the left.

"We lay under mesquite bush for a while, watching the house, but could not see a sign of life. Then we all moved up to about 25 yards. A dog came out the back door and pretty soon I saw a man's back.

"Bean moved up to the house and the rest of us followed. He called out something in Spanish and an old man came out and answered. Bean told us a bandit was in there.

"At that moment I heard the click of a shell being slipped into a gun. I jumped around the corner of the hut. A big Mexican with bandoliers swung across his shoulders, stopped out and quickly raised his gun at Wood. I tried to beat him to it and so did Wood, but he got in a second too soon and Wood fell. The Mexican fell at my first shot and I finished him with a second.

"I dropped back and began firing, when I heard Thompson cry 'they've got me, Doc.' I dragged Thompson behind a mesquite bush and staunch-ed a wound in his shoulder which was bleeding badly. Then I heard Bean down at the river yelling in Spanish. Soon I saw some Mexican troops coming up. 'They're all right, boys!' yelled Bean. So I called out 'Buenos Dias Amigos!' (Good morning, friends) and they answered back signalling with their arms, just as friendly as if we were meeting in the street.

"The Mexicans took a position alongside of us and kept firing and yelling for some time. Everyone I noticed fired his piece from the hip instead of shoulder.

"When it seemed clear that no fire was coming from the adobe we advanced and searched, finding three dead Mexicans."

"Bean then crossed the river with the Carranza troops, but our men stayed on this side. On his return Bean said the Carranza men under

A press dispatch from Laredo, Tex., says that Carranza is very soon to retire as first chief of the de facto government of Mexico and will be succeeded by General Gonzales. Reasons for the reported resignation are not given but it can be assumed that the first chief has acquired thru import duties, taxes, oil royalties, etc., a sufficiently large sum of money to make him comfortable for the rest of his years in a foreign home. At any rate, that judgment of Carranza is based upon the knowledge of the ambitions and actions of a great many Mexican leaders as told by history.

While there may not be much consolation in the statement to the administration, it sounds fair, at least, when Frank P. Woods, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee declares that Democrats in the senate were just as much to blame as President Wilson for "the shabby condition of our foreign relations." With this thought in mind the campaign committee will put into force some very vigorous plans which it is hoped will result in Republicans gaining control of the senate. In fact, conditions already look favorable for that very thing and Chairman Woods believes that Republicans will be elected successors to ten or eleven Democratic senators going out of office.

By Comparison

The only thing about the unbearable weather we have been having is the ability to appreciate cooler weather. The breezes which came Monday afternoon made the atmosphere delightful and pleasant by comparison with previous days. The mercury went down only a few degrees and in a normal year the weather would have been still considered "hot," but the thoughts of the torrid conditions of Saturday and Sunday made the difference. That's an illustration of an easy way of securing happiness and content when other measures fail—by comparing one's lot and condition with those of people less fortunate.

The Paper Investigation

The federal trade commission will begin a series of public hearings in Washington today with a view to determining whether there has been an undue increase in the price of news print. The investigation is the result of a resolution adopted recently by the senate largely thru the influence of the newspapers of the country. Some time ago the commission sent out letters of inquiry to thousands of newspaper publishers asking the quantity of paper used and the price paid, and extensive investigations have been made from the manufacturers' end. The price of news print has been nearly doubled in the last six months. The newspaper owners and others engaged in the publishing business are very much in hopes that this investigation will not be as formal

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

THE TIGHT HUSBAND.

"I wish you'd give me half a plunk," said timid Mrs. Spry. "Some calico and other junk I think I ought to buy." "You're always thinking up some plan for blowing money in," her husband said, "and that is why I'm always short of tin. A rouble here, a kopeck there, 'tis thus the money goes, a double-ooon for some hand made hair, a yen for furbelows. It is no wonder married gents in mental anguish dwell; now, I will give you fifteen cents, so spend it wisely well." A million wives, and doubtless more, are up against this spiel, when they approach the husband bore, to touch him for a wheel. It is not strange the modern maid cuts out the wedding veil; she'd love to beg for kale. That husband leads a misfit life who's stingy with his mon, who doles out pennies to his wife, and groans for every one.

and fruitless as has been true of many public hearings.

To offset the increased price demand many publishers have entered into an agreement to curtail the size of their papers, their logical theory being that by a united effort the demand for paper can be materially decreased and that a reduction in price will be certain to follow. Paper mill owners declare that the great foreign demand for paper is in large degree responsible for the shortage which it is claimed exists in the United States.

Mr. Hughes' Platform

Very special interest attaches to the speech of acceptance made by former Justice Charles E. Hughes when formally notified yesterday of his nomination for the presidency by the Republican party. Special care was taken to prevent the premature publication of Mr. Hughes' speech of acceptance, largely because its delivery marked the opening of the campaign and the speech summed up the principles upon which the candidate expects to win the nomination. Like all other public utterances of Mr. Hughes, this speech of acceptance does not mince words. By comparison with the ornate language of President Wilson, it is terse and leaves no doubt in the mind of the public as to where he stands on important issues. Due attention is paid to the question of preparedness and Mr. Hughes declares for an "adequate" program in a military way, using as positive proof of this condition the efforts of the administration to assemble a sizable army on the Mexican border.

As was to be expected, Mr. Hughes makes the Mexican policy of the administration the particular object of attack. This is treated as evidence of the incorrectness of the whole international policy of the administration, which is termed weak and vacillating. Mr. Hughes does not content himself with mere assertions in his arraignment of the administration, but brings to his support an array of facts which carry with them to any unprejudiced mind testimony which will go a long way in proving the case. The speech is notable in many details and is worthy of careful perusal by every citizen. The issues of the campaign are thus clearly outlined and "the battle is on."

War's Enormous Cost

The present week marks the completion of two years of hostilities in Europe. Attempts to gauge its burden to all the Powers involved have resulted in a calculation that the direct cost of the struggle to the present time is in excess of $45,000,000,000. The total military expenditure in the first year was approximately $17,500,000,000. For the second year it is estimated at fully $28,000,000,000.

These figures represent simply the expenditure for carrying on the hostilities. They do not allow for the destruction of cities, railways, ships, factories, warehouses, bridges, roads or agricultural values. Neither do they allow for the economic loss thru the killing and maiming of men, the loss of production in occupied territories, the decrease in stocks of food, metal, and other materials, the derangement of the machinery of distribution, or the cost of pensions. They measure in a common term an expenditure of capital which, to the Governments concerned, will in the end be translated for the most part into permanent additions to their national debt.

If the war costs $45,000,000,000 it will represent a sum three times greater than the entire capitalization of the railways of the United States, 120 times the cost of the Panama Canal, 500 times the amount of the annual American gold output.

The aggregate amount named for the two-years warfare is believed to be well within the actual total. Dr. Karl Helfferich, Germany's Finance Minister, has named precisely that amount, $45,000,000,000, as an outside figure of the war cost to only April 1.

Great Britain's expenditures are now in the neighborhood of $25,000,000 a day. The daily average was $14,000,000 a year ago. France is spending $18,000,000 a day, according to the latest authoritative estimates. Last year France spent $8,000,000 daily. Russia, which a year ago spent an amount equal to that of France, is now spending $15,500,000 daily. These daily war expenditures of the Entente Allies make a total of $58,000,000.

Germany's present daily war cost is $16,600,000, on the authority of Dr. Helfferich. That of Austria-Hungary, Turkey, and Bulgaria combined, on the same authority, is $10,900,000. The aggregate for the Central Allies is therefore $27,500,000. Altogether, the cost of strife to all of the belligerents is approximately $86,000,000 a day.

Mrs. Christina Eckels for many years a resident of the city passed away Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock after an illness of two weeks.

Deceased was Christina Heckman and was born in Marburg, Germany, May 4, 1829. She resided in Germany until 1873 when she came to the United States with her husband and children. The family settled at Beardstown where they remained six months, when they came to this city where Mrs. Eckels has since resided.

Sixty-three years ago she was united in marriage to Gottfried Eckels who preceded her in death four years ago. To this union eleven children were born. Eight preceded her in death. Those surviving are: Dr. L. W. Eckels of Louisville, Ky., Otto Eckels of this city and R. G. Eckels of Springfield.

At the death of her husband Mrs. Eckels went to live with her son, Dr. Eckels in Louisville, Ky. However, she was not satisfied so far away from her old home and friends and returned to this city in a short time. She has been living in the old family home, 1052 South East street where she had every comfort that her children could give her.

Mrs. Eckels was a member of the Salem Lutheran church and during many years took an active part in church work. She was a woman devoted to her family and one who won and held many warm friendships.

Funeral services will be held from Salem Lutheran church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Meade

Herman Weber received a telegram Sunday announcing the death at Los Angeles, Calif., of Charles Meade, a former resident of this city. Deceased was born in Germany and was at the time of death about 70 years of age. He came to Jacksonville in the early 70's and was a resident here until about 12 years ago when he went to Los Angeles. For a time he was employed by the Myers Packing company in that city but recently has been engaged in the fruit business.

Mr. Meade was a member of the Jacksonville fire department for over 20 years serving under the late James Mitchell when the department was located in West Court street before the day of fire engines. When the first fire engine was purchased he was selected as the engineer and had charge of it for a number of years. Mr. Meade was unmarried and so far as is known had no relatives in this country. The funeral probably will be held and interment made in Los Angeles, Cal.

NEW LUBRICANT RESISTS HEAT PREVENTS RAPID SEDIMENTATION

Ordinary oil breaks down under the terrific heat of an automobile engine. Within a few hours, black sediment is formed which partially clogs out the remaining liquid from the friction points where lubrication is most vital. Such under-supply of oil causes friction between the metal surfaces, intense heat, loss of power and expensive repairs.

The new lubricant that resists heat prevents rapid sedimentation, insures generous lubrication, and, except where mechanical faults exist, prevents carbon.

Relative Oil Destruction

The contents of the bottles shown, illustrate the relative durability of ordinary oil and of Vedol the new lubricant that resists heat. Vedol deposits only a small fraction as much sediment as ordinary oils.

There is a fundamental difference between ordinary oils and Vedol. Ordinary oils are unstable and therefore unserviceable because of non-heat-resisting chemical structure. Special processes of manufacture developed by this company and the use of Pennsylvania pure, fine-base crude oil give Vedol, the new lubricant, its unusual chemical structure, and its remarkable heat-resisting ability.

Make this test

Clean out the crank case. Fill with kerosene. Run the motor about thirty seconds under its own power, then draw out all kerosene and refill with Vedol.

Now make a test run over a familiar road—up steep hills and along straight, level stretches. Keep a record of oil and gasoline mileage.

You will find that your motor has altogether new pickup and hill climbing ability. Vedol enables you to get the maximum mechanical efficiency from your car and to reduce your expenses. Get a five-gallon can of Vedol, and make this convincing road test.

The total estimated cost, as prepared by Engineer Henderson, is $31,282. This estimate makes the cost to the property owners per lineal foot $4.80. The estimated cost for tarvia was $3.76, so that the asphalt will cost about $1 more per lineal foot. The figures made by the engineer also show that the College street pavement at the time it was laid would have cost property owners $4.16 per lineal foot had the intersections been included as in the case with paving work done at present. This increased cost, considering the number of intervening years, is counted comparatively small. The estimated costs are divided as follows:

11,672 yards asphalt.....	$23,344.00
7,630 feet combined curb and gutter.....	4,959.50
2,894 yards grading.....	725.50
120 feet sewer pipe.....	84.00
Catch basins.....	90.00
Stone inlets.....	145.00
Court Costs, etc.....	1,770.00
Total.....	$31,282.00

A resolution was also adopted for West State street pavement the estimate being slightly changed from that previously made. The total cost now is $52,214 against the former estimate of $50,092. The increase in cost is on account of an additional estimate of 10c a yard for asphalt and 5c a yard on the concrete curb and gutter. The increased costs for both pavements by comparison with previous estimates are due particularly to differences in the price of cement. For example, when the College street asphalt pavement was laid the cost of cement was 95c a barrel and the present price is $1.59.

ness and ineptness. Instead of assuring respect, we invited distrust of our competence and speculation as to our capacity for firmness and decision, thus entailing many difficulties which otherwise easily could have been escaped. Then, in numerous instances, notably in Latin America where such a course was particularly reprehensible, and where we desire to encourage the most friendly relations, men of long diplomatic experience whose knowledge and training were of especial value to the country were retired from the service apparently for no other reason than to meet partisan demands in the appointment of inexperienced persons. Where, as in Santo Domingo, we had assumed an important special trust in the interest of its people, that trust was shockingly betrayed in order to satisfy "deserving Democrats." The record showing the administration's disregard of its responsibilities with respect to its representation in diplomacy is an open book and the specifications may easily be had. It is a record revealing professions belied. It is a dismal record to those who believe in Americanism. Take for example, the withdrawal of Ambassador Herrick from France. There he stood in the midst of alarms, the very embodiment of courage, of poise, of executive capacity, universally trusted and beloved. No diplomat ever won more completely the affections of a foreign people; and there was no better fortune for this country than to have at the capital of any one of the belligerent nations a representative thus esteemed. Yet the administration permitted itself to supersede him. The point is not that the man was Ambassador Herrick or that nation was France, but that we invited the attention of the world to the inexcusable yielding of the national interest to partisan expediency. It was a lamentable sacrifice of international reputation. If we would have the esteem of foreign nations we must deserve it. We must show our regard for special knowledge and experience. I propose that we shall make the agencies of our diplomatic intercourse, in every nation, worthy of the American name.

Mexico. "The dealings of the administration with Mexico constitute a confused chapter of blunders. We have not helped Mexico. She lies prostrate, impoverished, famine-stricken, overwhelmed with the woes and outrages of internecine strife, the helpless victim of a condition of anarchy which the course of the administration only served to promote. For our selves, we have witnessed the murder of our citizens and the destruction of their property. We have made enemies, not friends. Instead of commanding respect and deserving good will by sincerity, firmness, and consistency, we provoked misapprehension and deep resentment. In the light of the conduct of the administration no one could understand its professions. Deceiving interference, we interferred most exasperatingly. We have not even kept out of actual conflict, and the soil of Mexico is stained with the blood of our soldiers. We have resorted to physical invasion, only to retire without gaining the professed object. It is a record which cannot be examined without a profound sense of humiliation.

"When the administration came into power Huerta was exercising authority as provisional president of Mexico. Whether or not he should be recognized was a question to be determined in the exercise of a sound discretion, but according to correct principles. The president was entitled to be assured that there was at least a defacto government; that international obligations would be performed; that the lives and property of American citizens would have proper protection. To attempt, however, to control the domestic concerns of Mexico was simply intervention, not less so because disclaimed. The height of folly was to have a vacillating and ineffective intervention, which could only evoke bitterness and contempt, which would fail to pacify the country and to assure peace and prosperity under a stable government. If crimes were committed, we do not palliate them. We make no defense of Huerta. But the administration had nothing to do with the moral character of Huerta. If in fact he represented the government of Mexico. We shall never worthily prosecute our unselfish aims or serve humanity by wrong-headedness. So far as the character of Huerta is concerned, the hollowness of the pretensions on this score is revealed by the administration's subsequent patronage of Villa (whose qualifications as an assassin are indisputable), whom apparently the administration was ready to recognize had he achieved his end and fulfilled what then seemed to be its hope.

"The question is not as to the non-recognition of Huerta. The administration did not content itself with refusing to recognize Huerta, who was recognized by Great Britain, Germany, France, Russia, Spain and Japan. The administration undertook to destroy Huerta, to control Mexican politics, even to deny Huerta the right to be a candidate for the office of president at the election the administration demanded. With what bewilderment must the Mexicans have regarded our assertion of their right to manage their own affairs! In the summer of 1913, John Lind was despatched to the City of Mexico as the president's 'personal spokesman and representative' to the unrecognized Huerta in order to demand that the latter eliminate himself from an unjustifiable mission, most offensive to a sensitive people. John Lind lingered irritatingly. The administration continued to direct its efforts at the destruction of the only government Mexico had.

"In the spring of 1914, occurred the capture of Vera Cruz. Men from one of our ships had been arrested at Tampico and had been discharged with an apology. But our admiral demanded a salute, which was refused. Thereupon the president went to congress, asking authority to use the armed forces of the United States. Without waiting for the passage of the resolution, Vera Cruz was seized. It appeared that a shipload of ammunition for Huerta was about to enter that port. There was a natural opposition to this invasion and a battle occurred in which nineteen Americans and over a hundred Mexicans were killed. This, of course, was war. Our dead soldiers were praised for dying like heroes in a war of service. Later, we retired from Vera Cruz, giving up this noble warfare. We had not obtained the salute which was demanded. We had not obtained reparation for affronts. The ship with ammunition which could not land at Vera Cruz had soon landed at another port and its cargo was delivered to Huerta without interference. Recently the naked truth was admitted by a cabinet officer. We are now informed that 'we did not go to Vera Cruz to force Huerta to salute the flag.' We are told that we went there 'to show Mexico that we were in earnest in our demand that Huerta must go.' That is, we seized Vera Cruz to depose Huerta. The question of the salute was a mere pretext.

"Meanwhile, the administration utterly failed to perform its obvious duty to secure protection for the lives and property of our citizens. It is most unworthy to slur those who have investments in Mexico in order to escape a condemnation for the non-performance of this duty. There can be no such escape, for we have no debate, and there can be no debate, as to the existence of this duty on the part of our government. Let me quote the words of the Democratic platform of 1912 'The constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them on our borders, and go with them throughout the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States government, both for himself and his property.' The bitter hatred aroused by the course of the administration multiplied outrages, while our failure to afford protection to our citizens evoked the scorn and contempt of Mexicans. Consider the ignominious incident at Tampico in connection with the capture of Vera Cruz. In the midst of the greatest danger to the hundreds of Americans congregated at Tampico our ships which were in the harbor were withdrawn and our citizens were saved only by the intervention of German officers and German ships. The official excuse of the secretary of the navy is an extraordinary commentary. Our ships, it seems, had been ordered to Vera Cruz; but, as it appeared that they were not needed, the order was rescinded. Then, we are told, our admiral was faced with this remarkable dilemma. If he attempted to go up the river at Tampico and take our citizens on board, the word of 'aggressive action,' as the secretary called it, 'would have spread to the surrounding country,' and it was 'almost certain that reprisals on American citizens would have followed, and lives would have been lost.' We had so incensed the Mexicans that we could not rescue our own citizens at Tampico, save at the risk of the murder of others. We must take Vera Cruz to get Huerta out of office and trust to other nations to get our own citizens out of peril. What a travesty of international policy.

"Destroying the government of Huerta we left Mexico to the ravages of revolution. I shall not attempt to narrate the sickening story of the barbarities committed, of the carnage of murder and lust. We were then told that Mexico was entitled to spill as much blood as she pleased to settle her affairs. The administration vacillated with respect to embargo on the export of arms and munitions to Mexico. Under the resolution of 1912 President Taft had laid such an embargo. In August 1913, President Wilson stated that he deemed it his duty to see that neither side to the struggle in Mexico should receive any assistance from this side of the border, and that the export of all arms and munitions to Mexico would be forbidden. But in February, 1914, the embargo was lifted. In April, 1914, the embargo was restored. In May, 1914, it was explained that the embargo did not apply to American shipments thru Mexican ports, and ammunition for Carranza was subsequently landed at Tampico. In September, 1914, the embargo was lifted on exports across the border; thereupon military supplies reached both Villa and Carranza. In October, 1915, an embargo was declared on all exports of arms except to the adherents of Carranza. There was an utter absence of consistent policy.

"For a time we bestowed friendship on Villa. Ultimately we recognized Carranza, not on the ground that he had a constitutional government, but that it was a defacto government. The complete failure to secure protection to American citizens is shown conclusively in the note to the secretary of state of June 20, 1916, in which he thus described the conditions that have obtained during the past three years:

"For three years the Mexican republic has been torn with civil strife, the lives of Americans and other aliens have been sacrificed; vast properties developed by American capital and enterprise have been destroyed or rendered non-productive; bandits have been permitted to roam at will thru the territory contiguous to the United States, and to seize without punishment or without effective attempt at punishment, the property of Americans, while the lives of Citizens of the United States who ventured to remain in Mexican territory or to return there to protect their interests have been taken, in some cases, barbarously taken, and the murderers have neither been apprehended nor brought to justice. It would be tedious to recount instance after instance, outrage after outrage, atrocity after atrocity, to illustrate the true nature and extent of the widespread conditions of lawlessness and violence which have prevailed.

"The Santa Ysabel massacre, the raid at Columbus, the bloodshed at Carrizal are fresh in your minds. After the Columbus raid we started a 'punitive expedition.' We sent a thin line of troops hundreds of miles into Mexico, between two lines of railway, neither of which we were allowed to use, and which we did not feel at liberty to seize. We were refused permission to enter the towns. Tho thus restricted, the enterprise was still regarded by the Mexicans as a menace. Our troops faced hostile forces and it is not remarkable that our men fell at Carrizal. What other result could be expected? We were virtually ordered to withdraw, and without accomplishing our purpose we have been withdrawing and we are now endeavoring to safeguard our own territory. The entire national guard has been ordered out and many thousands of our citizens have been taken from their peaceful employments and hurried to the Mexican border. The administration was to seize and punish Villa for his outrage on our soil. It has not punished any one; we went in only to retire, and future movements are apparently to be determined by a joint commission.

"The nation has no policy of aggression toward Mexico. We have no desire for any part of her territory. We wish her to have peace, stability, and prosperity. We should be ready to aid her in binding up her wounds, in relieving her from starvation and distress, and in giving her in every practicable way the benefits of our disinterested friendship. The conduct of this administration has created difficulties which we shall have to surmount. We shall have to overcome the antipathy needlessly created by that conduct and to develop genuine respect and confidence. We shall have to adopt a new policy, a policy of firmness and consistency thru which alone we can promote an enduring friendship. We demand from Mexico the protection of the lives and property of our citizens and the security of our border from depredations. Much will be gained if Mexico is convinced that we contemplate no meddlesome interference with what does not concern us, but that we propose to insist in a firm and candid manner upon the performance of international obligations. To a stable government, appropriately discharging its international duties we should give ungrudging support. A short period of firm, consistent and friendly dealing will accomplish more than many years of vacillation.

European War, Maintenance of American Rights.

"In this land of composite population, drawing its strength from every race, the national security demands that there shall be no paltering with American rights. The greater the danger of divisive influences, the greater is the necessity for the unifying force of a just, strong and patriotic position. We countenance no covert policies, no intrigues, no secret schemes. We are unreservedly, devotedly, wholeheartedly, for the United States. That is the rallying point for all Americans. That is my position. I stand for the unflinching maintenance of all American rights on land and sea.

"We have had a clear and definite mission as a great neutral nation. It was for us to maintain the integrity of international law; to vindicate our rights as neutrals; to protect the lives of our citizens, their property and trade from wrongful acts. Putting aside any question as to the highest possibilities of moral leadership in the law of nations in connection with the European war, at least entitled to the safeguarding of American rights. But this has not been secured. We have had brave words in a series of notes, but despite our protests the lives of Americans have been destroyed. What does it avail to use some of the strongest words known to diplomacy if ambassadors can receive the impression that the words are not to be taken seriously? It is not words, but the strength and resolution behind the words, that count. The chief function of diplomacy is prevention; but in this our diplomacy failed, doubtless because of its impaired credit and the manifest lack of disposition to back words with action. Had this government by the use of both informal and formal diplomatic opportunities left no doubt that when we said 'Strict accountability' we meant precisely what we said, and that we should unhesitatingly vindicate that position, I am confident that there would have been no destruction of American lives by the sinking of the Lusitania. There, we had ample notice; in fact, published notice. Furthermore, we knew the situation and we did not require specific notice. Instead of whittling away our formal statements by equivocal conversation, we needed the straight and decisive representations which every diplomat and foreign office would understand. I believe that in this way we should have been spared the repeated assaults on American lives.

Moreover, a firm American policy would have been strongly supported by our people and the opportunities for the development of bitter feeling would have been vastly reduced.

"It is a great mistake to say that resoluteness in protecting American rights would have led to war. Rather, in that course lay the best assurance of peace. Weakness and indecision in the maintenance of known rights are always sources of grave danger; they forfeit respect and invite serious wrongs, which in turn create an uncontrollable popular resentment. That is not the path of national security. Not only have we a host of resources short of war by which to enforce our just demands, but we shall never promote our peace by being stronger in words than in deeds. We should not have found it difficult to maintain peace, but we should have maintained peace with honor. During this critical period, the only danger of war has lain in the weak course of the administration.

"I do not put life and property on the same footing, but the administration has not only been remiss with respect to the protection of American lives; it has been remiss with respect to the protection of American property and American commerce. It has been too much disposed to be content with leisurely discussion. I cannot now undertake to review the course of events, but it is entirely clear that we failed to use the resources at our command to prevent injurious action, and that we suffered in consequence. We have no ulterior purposes, and the administration should have known how to secure the entire protection of every legitimate American interest and the prompt recognition of our just demands as a neutral nation.

"We denounce all plots and conspiracies in the interest of any foreign nation. Utterly intolerable is the use of our soil for alien intrigues. Every American must unreservedly condemn them, and support every effort for their suppression. But here, also, prompt, vigorous and adequate measures on the part of the administration were needed. There should have been no hesitation; no notion that it was wise and politic to delay. Such an abuse of our territory demanded immediate and thoroughgoing action. As soon as the administration had notice of plots and conspiracies, it was its duty to stop them. It was not lacking in resources. Its responsibility for their continuance cannot be escaped by the condemnation of others.

"We are a peace-loving people but we live in a world of arms. We have no thought of aggression, and we desire to preserve our democratic ideals without the waste of strife.

JACKSONVILLE SWAMPED THE ASHLAND PLAYERS

Visitors Made Only Run in Final
Inning—Score 7 to 1.

Jacksonville swamped the Ashland team at Nichols Park Sunday afternoon the final score being 7 to 1 in favor of the locals. The visitors lone run came in the ninth with two down and resulted from a single by Burns and a scratch three bagger by Neighbors which took a high sound over Woodman's head just as he was set to gather it in on the first bound.

White pitched a good game for the locals and received excellent support. He did not walk a man and that the fielding was fast and airtight is shown by the fact that in the third inning Ashland made three singles in a row and failed to score.

A week ago the locals played an errorless game against Alta and yesterday they repeated the trick, against Ashland, not an error being chalked up.

Denny and Wheeler featured in the fielding. Wheeler had fifteen chances at first many of them difficult while Denny's work was sensational. In the ninth he took Kiley's boulder in right field back of first with one hand and tossed out the runner. A moment afterward he went over to second base and grabbed Tate's boulder and got his man.
McCollister also made a pretty catch in center.

How the Runs Were Made

Jacksonville broke the ice in the third when Fernandes got a triple by virtue of Burns misjudging his line drive to left. DeFrates squeezed him in. Clark followed with a double, went to third on Wheeler's tap to Hartman and scored when Hartman threw the ball over Caswell's head.
McCollister beat out a hit to Hackett and Wheeler scored. An error by Caswell, singles by White and Denny, a base on balls to Fernandes and a triple by DeFrates put over four runs in the eighth.

The visitors' lone run came in the ninth. With two down Brush singled. Neighbors hit to right and the ball took a bad bound over Woodman's head for a triple, Burns scoring the lone run of the game. The

Mr. Charles McDaniels sold the Tureman Opera House Moving picture business to Thomas Kinney and Clarence Potter. They will take possession next week and continue to use Triangle Fine Arts pictures.

Jackson Charles was severely injured Wednesday while loading a C. P. & St. L. car with baled paper. Charles was at work inside the car when a freight made a flying switch sending two loaded box cars at a high rate of speed, striking the car in which he was at work, knocking him down and throwing many hundred pounds of the bales on him, aside from being badly bruised about the body the muscles of his back were torn loose. Prompt assistance from men who were working with him saved his life.

Tramp showers visited many nearby sections yesterday, but the drouth remains unbroken here, it has not rained here for 40 days and 40 nights as our last rain fell June 20th. The dust is almost as unpleasant as the intense heat, the street sprinkling department is taxed to its utmost, and it was necessary to get the fire engine and a force of men to work at night sprinkling some streets which had been graded recently, the loose earth graded up turned completely to dust; people residing on such streets appealed to the city for relief.

Your Neighbor's Car

Suppose He Buys a Hudson Super-Six

One thing we can't forget in buying cars. That is pride of ownership. The car is a pleasure vehicle. And it spoils the fun to be hopelessly outrivaled in about the same-class car.

The Hudson Super-Six has proved itself supreme. With this patented motor—certified a stock motor—it has done what no other stock car ever did.

It has made faster speed. It has done better hill-climbing. It has shown quicker pick-up. It has gone 1819 miles in 24 hours, breaking the best former stock car record by 52 percent.

It has beaten race cars by the dozen—cars of a very costly type. It has shown much more power than this size motor ever before developed. It has proved matchless endurance.

Suppose your neighbor gets this car. And you, while paying as much or more, get something less efficient. How will you feel when the two cars meet?

What These Things Signify

You do not care for reckless speed. Such power is rarely needed. But the Super-Six has the capacity. You know it to be the master of the road. It will do what you want without taxing half its ability. And that means economy.

It will cover more ground than lesser cars, without going any faster. This because of its quick get-away when you slow down or stop.

Its greatest supremacy—that of endurance—means years of extra service. How would you feel to have a like-class car excel yours in these respects?

Means 80% More Efficiency

The Super-Six motor—a Hudson invention—adds 80% to motor efficiency. That is, from a small, light motor it gets 76 horsepower. The same size of motor heretofore yielded us 42 h. p.

This result comes through ending vibration, the cause of motor friction. It gives such smoothness as you never knew before. And it means a long-lived motor.

It comes in a car, evolved under Howard E. Coffin, which has long stood for the acme in fine engineering. And it comes in the handsomest, best-equipped model that Hudson has ever designed.

If your neighbor gets it, and you don't, it may mean to you years of regret. In looks and performance, in prestige and endurance, he will have the advantage of you. Your Hudson dealer can prove these things beyond any possible question. And you should know them before you buy any high-grade car.

Any Super-Six owner—there are now more than 10,000—can tell you what it means to own one.

GOVERNMENT GIVES FRUIT CANNING SUGGESTIONS

If Proper Plan is Used Sugar Can be Omitted—Natural Flavor is not Retained.

Washington, D. C., July.—Fruit for use in pie or salads or as stewed fruit can be put up or canned without the use of any sugar at all according to the canning specialists of the Department. They, therefore, advise those who, because of the high price of sugar, have been thinking of reducing the amount of fruit they put up, to put up as much of their surplus as possible by the use of boiling water when sugar syrup is beyond their means. Any fruit, they say, may be successfully sterilized and retained in the pack by simply adding boiling water instead of hot syrup. The use of sugar, of course, is desirable in the canning of all kinds of fruit and as a better and ready sweetened product.

Moreover, most of the fruits when canned in water alone do not retain their natural flavor, texture and color as well as fruit put up in syrup. Fruit canned without sugar to be used for sauces or desserts must be sweetened.

Directions for Canning Fruits Without Syrup.

Can the product the same day it is picked. Cull, stem or seed, and clean the fruit by placing it in a strainer and pouring water over it until it is clean. Pack the product thoroughly in glass jars or tin cans until they are full; use the handle of a tablespoon, wooden ladle, or table knife for packing purposes. Pour over the fruit boiling water from a kettle, place rubbers and caps in position, partially seal if using glass jars, seal completely if using tin cans. Place the containers in a sterilization vat such as a wash boiler with false bottom, or other receptacle improvised for the purpose. If using a hot water bath outfit, process for 30 minutes; count time after the water has reached the boiling point; the water must cover the highest jar in container. After sterilizing remove packs, seal glass jars, wrap in paper to prevent bleaching and store in a dry, cool place.

If you are canning in tin cans it will improve the product to plunge the cans quickly into cold water immediately after sterilization. When using a steam pressure canner instead of the hot water bath sterilize for 10 minutes with five pounds of steam pressure. Never allow the pressure to go over 10 pounds.

BASEBALL NOTES

Ah, gravity! Manager Fielder Jones, of the Browns, points out that his team still has 11 games to play with the Mackmen.

Not the least perplexing angle of the Cincinnati-New York trade was the fact that "Old Master" Mathewson asked to be traded to the Reds. With Tommy Leach, Arthur Devlin and Charlie Dooin pastiming with their team, Rochester folk can have a regular "Old Home Week" celebration.

If a baseball manager owned all the pastimers in the world he would still want "just one more winning pitcher" or "another good hitter" and he would win the pennant.

Rube Marquard, the Brooklyn twirler, has about abandoned hopes of duplicating last season's batting performance. In 1915 Rube hit for .109, or fifty points above his present average.

"Home Run" Baker had just reached 13 in the season's stolen base record when he crashed into the grandstand or fell into the Yankee's dugout, or met with some other disastrous mishap that put him out of the game.

Manager "Smiling Bill" Donovan will have to rely upon his mascot and bat boy to bring home the pennant, if the Yankee's stars continue to fall by the wayside as a result of injuries.

"Buck" Herzog has certainly been the finest kind of trading material for the Giants. With the former Cincinnati pilot again in a Giant uniform, McGraw must be about ready to put over another big deal.

WEATHER SCIENCE

It Is Good as Far as It Goes, but It Doesn't Go Far Enough.

SECRETS HIDDEN IN THE SUN.

Changes in Intensity and Quality of Solar Rays Cause Effects That Bother Meteorologists—Why Forecasts of Experts Often Go Astray.

The most imperfect science is meteorology. The margin of error in its calculations is sometimes enormous—sufficient to completely reverse a prediction.

The weather bureau is a useful institution, based upon an incomplete system of correlated facts of observation, which are scientific as far as they go. But there are elements concerned in the production of weather about which the methods of meteorology give no information.

There are birds, insects and four footed animals which have an incomparably greater foreknowledge of weather changes than the entire scientific corps of the agricultural department possesses.

When the predictors of the weather bureau give warning of an approaching storm they act on very much the same principle as that on which a railroad time table is based. A train having been announced by telegraph as started on a given line will arrive in regular succession at certain points along that line, and a station agent at any given point can, if no accident intervenes, foretell the moment of the train's arrival at his station.

Storm centers, or cyclones, moving across the country are in some ways comparable to trains following a time schedule. But unfortunately they do not run on rails, they are not driven by an invariable force, they are subject to interruptions and obstacles of many kinds, and instead of always keeping the track and following the course they frequently wander vaguely about or take an unexpected turn or else fade away like exhausted whirls in water.

In fact, the weather bureau predictors are in the same quandary in which train dispatchers would find themselves if railroad tracks were shifting lines, continually drifting this way and that, getting crossed and entangled or sinking into suddenly formed quagmires and thus disappearing for good.

Meteorology as a science of weather prediction fails just because it possesses too few facts. With the aid of the telegraph the weather bureau can if lucky follow the trail of a storm center across the United States, but it cannot tell just how a new storm is born nor just when or where it will begin its course.

The one only great fact on which it bases its whole system of prediction is the general tendency of cyclonic disturbances in this country to travel eastward with a northerly trend, while storms originating around the gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean sea usually come up the coast.

But the official weather prognosticators are as much in the dark as the ordinary citizen concerning what is going to happen in the atmosphere next week, and they really know nothing about any storm until after it has begun its career, and then all that they know is the course that it will take—in case it doesn't happen to change its mind.

A slight variation in the intensity, or quality, of the radiation received from the sun might account for sudden changes or abnormal weather, and recent investigations show that such variations occur, but what is needed is more accurate knowledge about them and their effects. Heat and light are only two of an infinite number of forms of vibration sent to us from the sun. Everybody knows that when the weather records show that two days are precisely alike in temperature, in humidity, etc., human nerves prove that they are vastly unlike in some unnamed peculiarity which affects the springs of life.

The spider busily and confidently spinning her webs in preparation for a spell of fine weather which some unerring mechanism of foreknowledge within her enables her to detect is a surer guide than a barometer. She responds to vibrations as yet only guessed at by science, and so perhaps does the super-sensitive nerves of many human creatures.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York Journal.

Glass Cups.

The first glass cups were made at Alexandria. Some were colored like Bohemian glass and decorated with glass pastes, imitating precious stones and cameos. Some were opaline, others clear as crystal and still others formed of opaque layers welded together like the famous Portland vase, in which the white upper layer had been cut away like a cameo, leaving a blue ground around the figures.

Watered.

"If you are looking for bargains," said the broker, "I can suit you. I can offer you some stocks at 10 cents a share."

"But why are they so cheap?" demanded the lady shopper.

"You see, they have been slightly damaged by water."

A Sable Philosopher.

"Don't go ter growlin' kaze de rollin' world don't turn ter look at you. Ef it did it might be disappointed an' you'd hear it sayin', 'Ter think dat I got ter give de likes er dat a free ride 'round de sky'!"—Atlanta Constitution.

COOLER WEATHER DISPELS FEARS OF INCREASING DAMAGE

Close Is Unsettled at 3 to 4 of a Cent Off—Rain Gives Bears Final Advantage as to Corn.

Chicago, July 31.—Cooler weather, which tended to dispel fears of increasing damage to the spring crop made the wheat market today somewhat easier. The close was unsettled, Sept. at $1.21½ and December $1.24½; with the market as a whole ½¢ off to ¾¢ up as compared with Saturday's finish. In corn the outcome was unchanged to 1¢ lower; oats lost ¼¢ to 1¢ and provisions showed a setback of 7½¢ to 10¢ to 70¢.

At first the rush to sell on account of the break in the hot wave led to a material downturn in the price of wheat. Soon, however, a rally took place owing to bullish Canadian reports telling of a spread of blackrust and of scanty fillings. The headwinds were not well maintained.

Rain in Central Illinois and in Western Iowa gave the bears final advantage as to corn.

Oats were weak through the day. Country offerings were larger. Plentiful receipts of hogs weakened provisions.

"SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST"

A proprietary medicine like everything else that comes before the public has to prove its merit. It has to meet competition. The law of the "Survival of the Fittest" applies to this as to other things. The fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after forty years of success is still one of the largest sellers proves that it is a dependable, standard remedy for the ailments of woman-kind, and one in which they may have perfect confidence.—Adv.

DEALINGS IN STOCKS DEVOID OF ACTUAL SIGNIFICANCE

Negative Conditions Prevail—Total Transactions Amount to Scarcely 225,000 Shares.

New York, July 31.—Negative conditions prevailed in the stock market today with dealings so light as to be devoid of actual significance.

Total transactions amounted to scarcely 225,000 shares. The course of prices suggested further uncertain speculative sentiment. Bankers and dealers in bonds reported a fair "over-the-counter" demand for short term loans and international bonds were more steady with a marked abatement for recent heavy offerings.

Politics, crop news and labor troubles formed the basis for languid discussion. Advances from the west and northwest told of further deterioration of wheat and corn, damage to the latter staple being estimated at 40 to 50 per cent.

Rails were again a negligible factor aside from a sagging tendency in Canadian Pacific and its affiliated lines, which was partly retrieved in covering at the final hour. Shipping stocks were consistently strong, as were motors and accessories, with the notable exception of Willys-Overland. Munitions and equipment ranged 1 to almost 3 points higher.

Bonds were irregular on small dealings. Total sales par value $2,780,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

"Boys, Come In," Was the Call When the Judge Was Ready.
"Oyez! Oyez! Oyez! Know ye all that the honorable circuit court of Peoria county now stands convened pursuant to adjournment."
This is the impressive ceremony used in the days of 1818 to 1830 things were different, as early historical records show, observes the Peoria Tribune. Records of those days show one incident in which Judge John Reynolds was seated on the circuit bench in Washington county when the following was the procedure:
"Boys, come in. Our John is going to hold court," the sheriff said to the spectators, jurors and attorneys who had gathered on the grass in the courthouse yard.
The courts in those days were held mostly in log houses or in barrooms of village taverns fitted up for the purpose, with a temporary bench for the court and benches and chairs for the jurors, lawyers and spectators. In general, the judges were adverse to rendering decisions on points of law and preferred to submit all questions to the jurors for a decision.
One instance is cited when attorneys requested the court to instruct the jurors on questions of law. The judge, after rubbing his head and face with his hands and reflecting a few moments, said to the lawyers:
"Why, gentlemen, the jury understand it; they need no instructions; no doubt they will do justice in this case."

"The High Seas"

Get up right in the morning. Go to bed right at night. Start with joy in your heart, hope in the future, kindness in your purpose.
If it is a dark day never mind; you will lighten it up. If it is a bright day you will add to the brightness. Give a word of cheer, a kindly greeting and a warm handshake to your friends.
If your enemies look up pass them by, forget and try to forgive.
If all of us would bear in mind that happiness is from within and not from without there would be a wellspring of joy in every heart, and the sun would shine forever.

"The High Seas."
By "the high seas" referred to in article 1 of the constitution of the United States is meant the open sea—that is, the waters outside the civil jurisdiction of any country whatever, which, according to the law of nations, is limited to one marine league, or three geographical miles, from the shore. Even the great lakes beyond the limit designated above are regarded as "high seas."

DRIED FOODS IN CHINA.

An Art in Which the Native Were Experts Before Our Era.
"In so far as good cooking consists in making the cheap as attractive and delectable as the most expensive, the culinary art in China is far in advance of that of all other nations," writes Wong Chin Foo, a Chinese writer, in the Hotel Gazette.

"In a land so densely populated the cook becomes at an early age an important member of the social economy. Not only the preparation of food for immediate but also for future use is his function. Long before Christ they learned to preserve fruits and vegetables by desiccation, compression, pickling, smoking, souping and candying. They extended and applied these processes to animal tissue. Centuries ago they did what Americans cannot do today—dry clams, oysters and other shellfish until they are as hard as wood and would keep exposed to the air in any climate for years. Their similarly desiccated shrimps, crabs, lobsters, flatfish, sturgeon and the like as thoroughly that they can use the unboxed goods, if necessary, for ballasting a trading vessel without injuring their quality or flavor.

"A good Chinese cook must confine his expenditures to the limit laid down by his employer—a practice in strong contrast to the loose methods in this country. He can calculate the cost of a meal to within a few cents. He can make an inferior cut of fresh pork resemble the best piece of perfumed pork, so highly prized by his employer or make a mock bird's nest soup scarcely distinguishable from the real. When the spring market falls in price he will buy a quantity of perishable goods and preserve them to last until the autumn."

tion while pursuing its course in Mexico should have permitted such conditions to exist is almost incredible.

"In the demand for reasonable preparedness the administration has followed, not led. Those who demanded more adequate forces were first described as 'nervous and excited.' Only about a year and a half ago we were told that the question of preparedness was not a pressing one; that the country had been misinformed. Later, under the pressure of other leadership, this attitude was changed. The administration, it was said had 'learned something' and it made a belated demand for an increased army. Even then the demand was not prosecuted consistently and the pressure on congress with respect to other administrative measures was notably absent. The president addressed congress but little over six months ago, presenting the plans of the War Department, and Congress was formally urged to sanction these plans as 'essential first steps.' They contemplated an increase of the standing force of the regular army from its then strength of 5,023 officers and 102,985 enlisted men, to a strength of 7,136 officers and 134,707 enlisted men, or 141,843 all told. It was said that these additions were 'necessary to render the army adequate for its present duties.' Further it was proposed that the army should be supplemented by a force of 400,000 disciplined citizens raised in increments of 132,000 a year, thru a period of three years. At least so much 'by way of preparation for defense' seemed to the president to be 'absolutely imperative now.' He said 'We cannot do less.' But within two months this program was abandoned and the able Secretary of War who had devoted himself persistently to this important question felt so keenly the change in policy that he resigned from the cabinet. Now, the army organization bill provides for an army on paper of 178,000, but in fact it provides for only 105,000 enlisted men for the line of the regular army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, and I am informed that for the next fiscal year there will be an increase of only 15,000.

"The plan for the supplemental Federal army completely under Federal control was given up.

"We are told that the defects revealed by the present mobilization are due to the 'system.' But it was precisely such plain defects that under the constant warnings of recent years, with the whole world intent on military concerns, should have been studied and rectified. The administration has failed to discharge its responsibilities. Apparently, it is now seeking to meet political exigencies by its naval program. But it has imposed upon the country an incompetent naval administration.

"We demand adequate national defense; adequate protection on both our Western and eastern coasts. We demand thoroughness and efficiency in both arms of the service. It seems to be plain that our regular army is too small. We are too great a country to require of our citizens who are engaged in peaceful vocations the sort of military service to which they are now called. As well insist that our citizens in this metropolis be summoned to put out fires and police the streets. We do not count it inconsistent with our liberties, or with our democratic ideals, to have an adequate police force. With a population of nearly one hundred million we need to be surer of ourselves than to become alarmed at the prospect of having a regular army which can reasonably protect our border, and perform such other military service as may be required, in the absence of a grave emergency. I believe, further, that there should not only be a reasonable increase in the regular army, but that the first citizen reserve subject to call should be enlisted as a Federal army and trained under federal authority.

"The country demands that our military and naval programs shall be carried out in a business-like manner under the most competent administrative heads; that we shall have an up-to-date preparation; that the moneys appropriated shall be properly expended. We should also have careful plans for mobilizing our industrial resources; for promoting research and utilizing the investigations of science. And a policy of adequate preparedness must constantly have in view the necessity of conserving our fundamental human interests; of promoting the physical well-being of our population, as well as education and training; of developing to the utmost our economic strength and independence. It must be based upon a profound sense of our unity and democratic obligation. It must not mean the abandonment of other essential government work, but that we shall have, in both efficiency, nd, in neither waste or extravagance. We should also be solicitous, by wise pre-vision and conference, to remove so far as possible the causes of irritation which may in any degree threaten friendly relations. In our proposals there is, I repeat, no militarism. There is simple insistence upon common sense in providing reasonable measures of security and aver-aging the perils of neglect. We must have the strength of self-respect; a strength which contains no threat, but assures our defense, safe-guards our rights and conserves our peace.

"The Organization of Peace test of force there must be the re-velopment of international justice and to safe guard so far as practicable the peace of the world.

"Arbitration treaties are useful within their proper sphere, but it is worse, than folly to ignore the limitations of this remedy or to regard such treaties as an adequate means of preventing war. There should be an international tribunal to decide controversies susceptible of judicial determination, thus affording the advantage of judicial standards in the settlement of particular disputes and of the gradual growth of a body of judicial precedents. In emphasizing the desirability of such a tribunal for a justiciable sort, it must not be overlooked that there are also legislative needs. We need conferences of the nations to formulate international law so as to adapt it to new conditions, to remove causes of international differences. We need the instrumentalities of conciliation. And behind this international organization, if it is to be effective, must be the cooperation of the nations to prevent resort to hostilities before the appropriate agencies of peaceful settlement have been utilized. If the peace of the world is to be maintained, it must be thru the preventive power of a common purpose. Without this, it will still remain not only possible but practicable to disregard international obligations, to override the rights of states, particularly of small states, to ignore principles, to violate rules. And it is only thru international cooperation giving a reasonable assurance of peace that we may hope for the limitation of armaments. It is to be expected that nations will continue to arm in defense of their respective interests, as they are conceived and nothing will avail to diminish this burden save some practical guaranty of international order. We, in this country, can, and should, maintain our fortunate freedom from entanglements with interests and policies which do not concern us. But there is no national isolation in the world of the Twentieth Century. If at the close of the present war the nations are ready to undertake practicable measures in the common interest in order to secure international justice, we cannot fail to recognize our international duty. The peace of the world is our interest, as well as the interest of others, and in developing the necessary agents for the prevention of war we shall be glad to have an appropriate share. And our preparedness will have proper relation to this end as well as to our own immediate security.

Industry and Trade—A Fool's Paradise

"When we contemplate industrial and commercial conditions, we see that we are living in a fool's paradise. The temporary prosperity to which our opponents point has been created by the abnormal conditions incident to the war. With the end of the war there will be new conditions determined by a new Europe. Millions of men in the trenches will then return to work. The energies of each of the now belligerent nations, highly trained, will then be turned to production. These are days of terrible discipline for the nations at war, but it must not be forgotten that each is developing a national solidarity, a knowledge of method, a realization of capacity hitherto unapproached. In each, the lessons of cooperation now being learned will never be forgotten. Friction and waste have been reduced to a minimum; labor and capital have a better understanding, business organization is more highly developed and more intelligently directed than ever before. We see in each of these nations a marvelous national efficiency. Let it not be supposed that this efficiency will not count when Europe once more at peace pushes its productive powers to the utmost limit.

"On the other hand, in this country, with the stoppage of the manufacture of munitions, a host of men will be turned out of employment. We must meet the most severe competition in industry. We are undisciplined, defective in organization, loosely knit, industrially unprepared.

"Our opponents promised to reduce the cost of living. They they have failed to do; but they did reduce the opportunities of making a living. Let us not forget the conditions that existed in this country under the new tariff prior to the outbreak of the war. Production had decreased, business was languishing; new enterprises were not undertaken, instead of expansion there was curtailment, and our streets were filled with the unemployed. It was estimated that in the city of New York over 300,000 were out of work. Throughout the country the jobless demanded relief. The labor commissioners of many states, and our municipal administrations, devoted themselves to the problem of unemployment, while the resources of our voluntary charitable organizations were most severely taxed. What ground is there for expecting better conditions when the unhealthy stimulus of the war has spent its force and our industries and working men are exposed to the competition of an energized Europe?

"It is plain that we must have protective, upbuilding policies. It is idle to look for relief to the Democratic party which as late as 1912 declared in its platform that it was 'a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government, under the constitution, had no right or power to impose or collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue.' We are told it is its present platform that there have been 'momentous changes' in the past two years, and hence, repudiating its former attitude, the Democratic party now declares for a 'non-partisan tariff commission.' But have the 'momentous changes' incident to the European war changed the constitution of the United States? Is it proposed to use a tariff commission to frame a tariff for revenue only? Is the opposing party ready to confess that for generations it has misread the constitution? Is that party now prepared to accept the protective principle? Rather so far as the tariff is concerned, it would appear to be without principle. Witness its action in connection with the sugar duties, its reaffirmation of the doctrine of a revenue tariff, its dyestuffs proposal, and its formulation in lieu of protective duties of an 'anti-dumping' provision, the terms of which are sufficient to show its inefficient character.

"The Republican party stands for the principle of protection. We must apply that principle fairly, without abuses, in as scientific a manner as possible; and congress should be aided by the investigations of an expert body. We stand for the safeguarding of our economic independence, for the development of American industry, for the maintenance of American standards of living. We propose that in the competitive struggle that is about to come the American workingman shall not suffer.

"The Republican party is not a sectional party. It thinks and plans nationally. Its policies are for the prosperity of every part of the country, South, East, North and West. It is not simply a question of a wise adjustment of the tariff in accordance with sound principle, but there is also the need in other respects for stable conditions for commercial and industrial progress. If we are to meet effectively the conditions which will arise after the war is over we must put our house in order. Let it be understood that the public right is to be maintained without fear or favor. But let us show that we can do this without impairing the essential agencies of progress. There is no forward movement, no endeavor to promote social justice, which in the last analysis does not rest upon the condition that there shall be a stable basis for honest enterprise. This subject has several important phases to which at this time I can allude only briefly. We should place our transportation system on a sure footing. We should be ably wisely to adjust our regulative powers so that the fundamental object of protecting the public interest can be fully secured without uncertainties or conflicts and without hampering the development and expansion of transportation facilities. This national end may be accomplished without the sacrifice of any interest that is essentially local, or without weakening public control. Moreover, in the severe economic struggle that is before us and in seeking, as we should, to promote our productive industries and to expand our commerce—notably our foreign commerce—we shall require the most efficient organization, quite as efficient as that found in any nation abroad. There must be no unnecessary wastes and no arbitrary obstructions. We have determined to cut out, root and branch, monopolistic practices, but we can do this without hobbling enterprise or narrowing the scope of legitimate achievement. Again, we must build up our merchant marine. It will not aid to put the government into competition with private owners. That, it seems to me, is a counsel of folly. A surer way of destroying the promise of our foreign trade could hardly be devised. It has well been asked—does the government intend to operate at a profit or at a loss? We need the encouragement and protection of government for our shipping industry, but it cannot afford to have the government as a competitor.

Labor

"We stand for the conservation of the just interests of labor. We do not desire production, of trade, or efficiency in either, for its own sake, but for the betterment of the lives of human beings. We shall not have any lasting industrial prosperity, unless we buttress our industrial endeavors by adequate means for the protection of health; for the elimination of unnecessary perils to life and limb; for the safeguarding of our future thru proper laws for protection of women and children in industry; for increasing our opportunities for education and training. We should be solicited to inquire carefully into every grievance, remembering that there are few disputes which cannot easily be adjusted if there be an impartial examination of the facts. We make common cause in this country, not for a few, but for all; and our watchword must be co-operation, not exploitation. No plans will be adequate save as they are instinct with genuine democratic sympathy.

"I stand for adequate federal workmen's compensation laws, dealing not only with the employees of government, but with those employees who are engaged in interstate commerce, and are subject to the hazard of injury, so that those activities which are within the sphere of the constitutional authority of congress may be dealt with under a suitable law.

Agricultural Conservation.

"We propose to promote by every practicable means our agricultural interests and we include in this program an effective system of rural credits. We favor the wise conservation of our natural resources. We desire not only that they shall be safeguarded, but that they are adequately developed and used to the utmost public advantage.

National Trusteeship—The Philippines.

"We turn to other considerations of important policy. One of these is our attitude toward the Philippines. That, I may say, is not a question of self-interest. We have assumed international obligations, which we should not permit ourselves to evade. A breach of trust is not an admissible American policy, tho our opponents have seemed to consider it such. We should administer government in the Philippines with a full recognition of our international duty, without partisanship, with the aim of maintaining the highest standards of expert administration, and in the interest of the Filipinos. This is a matter of national honor.

Woman Suffrage.

"I endorse the declaration in the platform in favor of woman suffrage. I do not consider it necessary to review the arguments usually advanced on the one side or the other, as my own convictions proceed from a somewhat different point of view. Some time ago a consideration of our economic conditions and tendencies, of the position of women in gainful occupations, of the nature and course of the demand, led me to the conclusion that the granting of suffrage to women is inevitable. Opposition may delay, but in my judgment cannot defeat this movement. Nor can I see any advantages in the delay which can possibly offset the disadvantages which are necessarily incident to the continued agitation. Facts should be squarely met. We shall have a constantly intensified effort and a distinctly feminist movement constantly perfecting its organization to the subversion of normal political issues. We shall have a struggle increasing in bitterness, which I believe to be inimical to our welfare. If women are to have the vote, as I believe they are, it seems to me entirely clear that in the interest of the public life of this country, the contest should be ended promptly. I favor the vote for women.

Administrative Efficiency—Civil Service Laws—Budget.

"Confronting every effort to improve conditions is the menace of incompetent administration. It is an extraordinary notion that democracy can be faithfully served by ineptness. Democracy needs exact knowledge, special skill and thoro training in its servants. I have already spoken of the disregard of proper standards, in numerous instances, in appointments to the diplomatic service. Unfortunately there has been a similar disregard of executive responsibility in appointments to important positions in our domestic service. Even with respects to technical bureaus the demands of science have been compelled to yield to the demands of politics.

"We have erected against opportunities of spoilsmen the barriers of the civil service laws, but under the present administration, enactments providing for the creation of large numbers of places have been deliberately removed from the merit system. The principle of our civil service laws have been shamelessly violated. We stand for fidelity to these principles and their consistent application. And, further, it is our purpose that administrative chiefs shall be men of special competence eminently qualified for their important work.

"Our opponents promised economy but they have shown a reckless extravagance. They have been wasteful and profligate. It is time that we had fiscal reform. We demand a simple business-like budget. I believe it is only thru a responsible budget, proposed by the executive, that we shall avoid financial waste and secure proper administrative efficiency, and a well-balanced consideration of new administrative proposals.

"We live in a fateful hour. In a true sense the contest for the preservation of the nation is never ended. We must still be imbued with the spirit of heroic sacrifice which gave us our country and brought us safely thru the days of civil war. We renew our pledge to the ancient ideals of individual liberty, of opportunity denied to none because of race or creed, of unswerving loyalty. We have a vision of America prepared and secure, strong and just; equal to her tasks; an exemplar of the capacity and efficiency of a free people. I endorse the platform adopted by the convention and accept its nomination."

A New Method of Baking Cakes

Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the baking expert, says:

"There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and evenly—give them time to rise before a crust is formed and the batter is stiffened by cooking."

"If using a gas, gasoline or oil stove, light your oven when you put the cake in and keep the flame low until the cake has doubled in bulk; then increase the heat until it is evenly browned and will respond to the pressure of the finger. If using a coal or wood range, leave the oven door open until the cake is in; then turn on the drafts and by the time the oven is at baking temperature, the cake will have raised sufficiently."

For rich, moist, feathery cakes Mrs. Briggs always recommends

KC BAKING POWDER

It is double acting and sustains the raise. You can open and close the oven door, turn the tin around in the oven or do anything else necessary, without any danger of making the cake fall.

Try your favorite cake next time with K C Baking Powder and see how much higher it will rise. Make it just as you always do, with the same quantity of baking powder. While K C is less expensive than the old fashioned baking powders, it has even greater leavening strength and it is guaranteed pure and healthful.

MRS. DE ORNELLAS OLDEST
RESIDENT OF CITY IS DEAD

Had Wonderful Record of One Hundred and Six Years—Came Here With Exiles from Madeira.

The oldest resident of Jacksonville, Mrs. Francisca DeOrnellas, died Sunday morning at the home of her son, Moses DeOrnellas, on North Prairie street. Mrs. DeOrnellas was 106 years of age. She was the widow of the late Joseph DeOrnellas, long a well known resident of Jacksonville, who died twenty years ago. It was in 1849 that Mrs. DeOrnellas came to Jacksonville with the first exiles from the Island of Madeira. She came, as did the others with her, in order to give the church the important place in life that she thought it should have. As she was born May 12, 1810 in Madeira, she was a woman of thirty nine years of age when she became a resident of this city. So to her belongs the remarkable record of having been a Jacksonville resident for sixty seven years although she did not arrive here until she was at the years commonly considered the middle age of life. Her life was remarkable in other ways also because it is recorded that she had never needed the services of a doctor until a comparatively recent date. Her health and strength were matters of great wonder to those who knew her intimately.

Mrs. Francisca De Ornellas.

Much of the time since the death of her husband has been spent at the home of her son, Moses DeOrnellas, and there she has been given the tenderest care by her relatives.

Mrs. DeOrnellas became a member of the local Portuguese church very soon after her arrival in Jacksonville and this membership was continued into Northminster church. For some time she had been unable to attend the regular church services but her interest in the church never lagged. The deceased is survived by two sons and one daughter, Moses DeOrnellas of this city; Noah DeOrnellas of Murrayville; and Mrs. Fanny Stumbaugh of Kansas City, Kans. Seven have died in years gone by. There are ten grand children and a number of great grandchildren. She leaves also one sister, Mrs. Antonia DeOrnellas, living northeast of Jacksonville, who has attained the age of 101 years and is still in excellent health.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Reynolds undertaking rooms, with services in charge of Rev. W. E. Spoons. Burial will be in Jacksonville cemetery.

All coal to be weighed over the City Scales, except that delivered to the County Farm which is to be weighed at the Farm.

C. A. BORUFF,
County Clerk.CONTRACT WILL BE LET
FOR HEBRON M. E. CHURCH

Bids will be opened in the office of C. W. Buckingham this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the construction of a new Methodist church at Hebron, near Sinclair. For the past few days workmen have been engaged in preparing the old building and the pastor, the Rev. C. H. Davis, has during July conducted services in a blacksmith shop at Sinclair.

Much of the credit for the new enterprise is due Amos Swain, who began early in the conference year to agitate a new building and by his enthusiasm and persistence won friends in large number for the new project. Mr. Swain and James Mahon each gave $1,000. Mr. Swain and R. E. Hart as a soliciting committee raised $3,000 in subscriptions.

CHARGED WITH BOOTLEGGING
Mattie Black, also colored, was arrested by the police Monday charged with selling liquor in local option territory. She gave bond in the sum of $500 to the November term of the circuit court.

COUNCIL WILL HAVE
SIDEWALK ORDINANCE MONDAY

Paving Work On Streets Adjacent To Public Square Is Proposed.

The meeting of the city council Monday morning was brief as little other than routine business was transacted. Coal bids were opened and were referred to Commissioner Vasconcellos for action at a later date in accordance with law. Mr. Cox reported a force of men at work straightening the bridge across the Mauvaisterre on Vine street, which was in such a condition that it needed immediate attention.

Reference was again made to the proposed sidewalk ordinance which is to be passed before notices are sent to property owners instructing them that if they do not lay sidewalks that the improvements will be made by the city and the expense taxed against the property. City Attorney Reeve said that this ordinance would be ready for action by the council next Monday.

Paving Proposed in Business District
Mayor Rodgers said he had asked the city engineer to prepare estimates for the paving of streets adjacent to the square which are now in very bad condition. On certain streets he had suggested to the Mayor that the pavement be somewhat wider than the ones now in use. Engineer Henderson said that if he had some idea as to the preferences of property owners that it would very much facilitate the work of getting out the necessary estimates and other papers. It was the sense of the council that some plan be devised for getting the ideas of property owners. The engineer stated that Joseph DeGouveia who owns 120 feet on West Court street preferred a cedar block pavement and this was said to be true of the Reich Brewing company who own a considerable frontage on the street. These two property owners are said to have more than a majority of the frontage on Court street between the square and West street.

The streets that the council now proposes to prepare for paving and in some cases widening are as follows: West Court street between the square and West street; West street from Court street to College avenue; West Morgan street from West street to the square; South Sandy street from the square to College avenue; South Mauvaisterre street from the square to College avenue; East Morgan street from the square to East street; East street from Morgan street to Court street; East Court street from East street to the square; North Mauvaisterre street from the square to North street; North Sandy street from the square to North street.

The coal bids were opened by City Clerk Pyatt for furnishing coal for the city light plant and the south side pumping station. The coal used at the light plant the past year has been known as Nos. 4 and 5 fixed washed coal and mine run has been used at the pumping plant. The bids received are as follows:

J. A. Paschall—Washed coal $2.15; mine run $2.54; lump coal $2.83.

Fernandez & Son—Washed coal $2.14; pea coal $2.23; mine run $2.60.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

NORTH OF ALEXANDER

An auto accident occurred Sunday afternoon which might have resulted in the death of several persons, when the automobile owned and driven by Bert Wilson of St. Louis overturned on the state road four miles north of the Alexander cross roads. The persons in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilson and little son of East Chambers street, and their guests Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wilson and little daughter of St. Louis.

To avoid the dust Mr. Wilson started to catch up with another car just ahead. The first car had stopped and in the heavy dust Mr. Wilson did not see it in time. He turned out in order to avoid a collision, and his car turned over into the ditch. It seems a miracle that no one was injured, tho the car was considerably torn up.

MRS. GRAFF INJURED BY FALL

Mrs. Charles Graff suffered a painful accident Monday morning when she fell from the front porch of her home on Sandusky street and sprained her knee. She was descending the steps when her foot slipped and she fell to the bottom of the flight. Dr. Geo. E. Baxter was called and gave the necessary attention. Mrs. Graff will probably be confined to her home for several days.

Only $1 Puts This New Hoosier
In Your Home on the Famous Hoosier Plan

Prices Will Advance When this Allotment Is Gone.

Before the coming prices take effect, you may choose between the new "Hoosier Wonder" pictured here or one of the other celebrated Hoosiers—"Hoosier Beauty," "Hoosier Special" or "Hoosier De Luxe."

The terms of this Hoosier Plan in our store are these:

1. $1 puts the cabinet you choose in your home.
2. $1 weekly quickly pays for it.
3. The low Cash Price fixed by the factory prevails strictly.
4. No interest. No extra fees.
5. This sale is conducted under the direct supervision of the Hoosier Company.

Only by grasping this opportunity at once can you be sure of getting your cabinet on the Hoosier Plan—and at the present low prices.

You realize of course that these terms could not be offered except on a very limited number of cabinets.

WHY PRICES MUST BE INCREASED.
50,000 cabinets—the entire spring output of the Hoosier factory—were sold in six weeks after they announced their new models. In some cities women have been unable for several months to get this most popular style.

Now the factory has made up 20,000 more for July and August sales. The next lot, after these are gone, must be sold at higher prices. This is due to the increased cost of all raw material entering into their manufacture.

OUR SALE MAY CLOSE ANY DAY

If all the women who need the Hoosier should come for it tomorrow, our full allotment of Hoosier Cabinets would be taken before night and the sale would close. This happened in some towns during a similar sale two years ago. Yet, if women delay, the sale may last a week or more. But to take chances and miss this opportunity, or come to our store tomorrow so you can find out about this cabinet and decide before too late?

HUGHES ALLIANCE BRANCH WILL BE ORGANIZED HERE

M. S. McMullen, Field Secretary Here to Confer With Persons Interested in New Yorkers Company.

M. S. McMullen, field secretary for the Hughes Alliance in Illinois, came to Jacksonville Monday and will remain here thru today. The purpose of Mr. McMullen's visit at this time is to organize a branch of the alliance in Illinois. To that end a meeting will be held this morning when it is expected that an organization will be perfected.

It was at the close of Mr. Hughes' term as governor of New York that a state wide organization known as the Hughes Alliance was the instrumentality thru which he did practical and effective work for his reelection without special reference to their accustomed political affiliations. The organization afforded the opportunity for many men and women, staunch friends of the governor, to cooperate with the Republican party and with other organizations working to continue the Hughes standard of public administration in New York affairs. The manner in which the alliance worked gave a clear demonstration of the possibilities of subordinating party differences in order to accomplish some certain end. It is purposed now to reorganize the Hughes Alliance and to so broaden it out that it will become nation wide in membership and influence.

It was very soon after Governor Hughes' nomination for the presidency and his resignation from the supreme bench that the suggestions for the national Hughes Alliance were heard. As a result the general committee for Chicago and vicinity was announced June 26, and now the general state organization is under way and additional members of the committee for the entire state will soon be announced. After organization work has been perfected in all the down state counties a central committee will have charge of the campaign activities of the alliance.

While the organization will purposely be so broad that it will include all men and women who feel that the need of the time calls for man of Mr. Hughes' calibre, there will be the closest cooperation with the party organization. While it will be true in most instances that the leaders of the alliance will be men who are also working for the same ends in and thru party organizations, it is thought that the supplementary activities of the alliance along lines calculated especially to appeal to independent voters will bring valuable aid to the national ticket.

MISS EVA BENEFIEL DROWNED IN THE KANKAKEE RIVER

Kankakee, Ill., July 31—Miss Eva Benefiel of Jacksonville, and Miss Marie Carpenter of Stockton, Ill., were drowned at 5:30 this afternoon, while wading the Kankakee river. Miss Benefiel, who was adviser for the Women's Home Improvement association, while some distance from the other women stepped into a hole in the river bottom. She screamed for help as she sank. Miss Carpenter went to the aid of the drowning woman and fell into the same deep hole. The effort of the other campers to help them was futile.

Miss Benefiel was a sister of Mrs. W. H. Cocking of West North street, but for several years had been in Jacksonville for short visits only. She is survived by her father, J. B. Benefiel of Mattoon and a second sister, Miss Edaline Benefiel of Ogden, Utah. A woman of natural grace and great personal charm, she had made many friends and her work as adviser proved eminently successful. For several years Miss Benefiel was a teacher in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Cocking received word of the death by telephone but a short time after death had occurred. Mr. Cocking left via the 9:45 o'clock Wabash for Kankakee to take charge of the body, which was at once recovered. Burial will be made in Jacksonville.

JAMES JOHNSON BADLY CUT

Elmer Cannon became engaged in a fight with James Johnson Monday evening and during the melee Johnson received a bad cut on the left jaw. The wound extended from a point under the lobe of the left ear along the edge of the jaw to the point of the chin. Dr. King was called and gave the injured man surgical attention. Cannon was arrested by the night force and is held in the police station.

Cannon on July 4th, attacked his father at the family home and was arrested at that time. His father decided to give him another chance so he told Chief of Police Davis that he believed the boy was unbalanced. Monday evening he told Chief Davis that he would endeavor to have him committed to the Jacksonville State hospital.

In talking to the police after his arrest Monday evening, Cannon said he did not have any recollection of cutting Johnson. The boy is said to have a violent temper.

RALPH CRAIG VISITED FRIENDS HERE

Ralph Craig, who played right field for Jacksonville in the old Iowa league in 1907 was in the city Monday for a few hours and had a pleasant visit with old friends. Craig is now playing center field for Peoria and is playing a great game. When here Craig could get down to first base faster than anybody we ever saw. He says he has slowed up some with the passing years but judging from the fact that he is leading off for Peoria he must still be pretty fast. The Peoria team is now leading the Three Eye league race and from this distance it looks like the Distillers outclass the field. The team was enroute to Hannibal for a series of three games with the Mules.

FRANK CLERIHAN DROWNED NEAR MEREDOSIA SUNDAY

Well Known Local Cigar Maker Met Sunday Death—Particulars of Accident Will Never be Known—Body Found in River Monday.

Frank Clerihan, a cigarmaker of this city was drowned in the Illinois river a short distance above Meredosia Sunday. Just how Clerihan met death probably will never be known as there was no one with him at the time. The body was found early Monday morning by Newton Floyd of Meredosia. Coroner Wright was notified and went to Meredosia and held the inquest Monday afternoon.

Coroner Wright empaneled a jury composed of Louis F. Berger, foreman, George Vanderlip, George De-binder, Mike Cody, Charles Winningham and H. D. Berger, clerk. After hearing evidence of P. H. Lyon of this city, Vernis Myers and Newton Green of Naples and Newton Floyd of Meredosia, the jury returned a verdict that Clerihan came to his death by accidental drowning by falling from a boat into the Illinois River.

According to the testimony of Lyons he and Clerihan left Jacksonville on the Wabash train at 5:13 o'clock Saturday evening for Naples. It was the intention to spend Sunday fishing along the river. Lyons said they camped Saturday night at Smith lake a mile north of Naples. Witness said they left Naples about 7 o'clock in the evening.

About 11 o'clock they left camp in company with Vernis Myers, Newton Green and a Mr. Mapin in a launch for the locks. About a mile this side of the locks the party stopped at a landing and Clerihan said he was not feeling well and would stay in the boat and take a nap. The landing was near the place of a man named Hawk. Myers tied the boat up and the party continued to the locks.

About half an hour later the party returned and found the boat but Clerihan was missing. Search was made in the woods for Clerihan but he could not be found. Some of the party waded in the river near the landing in search of the body.

One of the witnesses, Myers, said that in his opinion Clerihan had been drinking. Witness said however that he did not believe that he had drunk enough to render him helpless. Myers also testified that the water where the boat was tied was not more than two and one half feet deep.

Newton Floyd who found the body testified that he was going to the ferry landing at Meredosia about 6 o'clock Monday morning when he saw a body floating in the river about 50 yards from shore and about fifty yards south of the steamboat landing. Witness said he called R. H. Duer who assisted him in getting the body from the river.

Clerihan was 24 years of age at the time of death. He was a son of Mrs. Thomas Clerihan and the family formerly lived near Woodson. His father met death while engaged in blasting stumps on his farm near that place. After the death of the father the mother removed to this city. Young Clerihan entered the cigar factory of Robert T. Cassell as an apprentice and learned the cigar makers trade. After finishing he went to work in the McCarthy-Gebert factory. He has spent most of his time working in that factory the he has been employed in other factories in the city.

He is survived by his mother and the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. T. M. Stubblefield of Oklahoma City, Mrs. O. W. Snyder of Chicago, Grace and William of this city, and Lottie and Thomasena of Alton.
